

Privacy Policy

VIVUS, Inc. recognizes the importance of protecting the privacy of visitors to its websites. VIVUS will collect information that can identify you, such as your name, address, telephone number, e-mail address, and other similar information when it is voluntarily submitted by you. We will use your information to respond to requests you may make.

This site may collect some non-personal information, such as the date and time you visited our site, the pages you visited, the website you came from, the type of browser you are using, the type of operating system you are using and the domain name and address of your Internet service provider.

Our web server may send to your computer a “cookie” when you access the website. Then when you come back our site will detect whether you have one of our cookies on your computer. Cookies can tell us how and when pages in a website are visited and by how many people. This technology does not collect personal identifiable information; the information is cumulative of all visitors. With the information we can improve our site.

VIVUS reserves the right to share your information to respond to duly authorized information requests of governmental authorities or where required by law.

This site is not intended for individuals under the age of 18. We do not specifically collect information about children.

As a resource to our visitors, VIVUS provides links to other websites. We try to carefully choose websites that are useful, relevant and educational. However, because websites can change so quickly, we cannot be responsible for the content of these sites.

Any changes to this privacy policy will be communicated on this page.